

Lesser Wanderer Danaus chrysippus

When to look:

Spring to summer and after heavy rains in semid-arid regions

7-8 cm wingspan

Male:
Dark grey sex scales
on its hindwing

Similar species:

Lesser Wanderers look similar to the Wanderer Butterfly (Danaus plexippus), with orange coloured wings and dark edges, but they also have a larger white pattern on their forewings.

Mostly tawny-orange

Heavy black boarder with white spots

Images courtesy of Geoff Walker (adults) and Jean and Fred Hort (caterpillar)